of the Platt men. They think his nomination would placate the sore heads in Eric County and make them solid for the ticket. Haight's nomination would also compensate the Eric delegation for the withdrawal of Roberts.

Summed up, the situation at noon today was, that Morton and Wadsworth would be chosen for first and second place and Haight or Keilogg for Judge. Comptroller Roberts is the most disappointed man in the State. He is critically ill here, as a result of the hard work he has been doing, and the worry over his defeat. He was the first in the field, and began his campaign by trying to make a record as a careful and efficient public servant.

He started in by weeding out the pensioners of the Democratic Administration in the State departments and institutions. He saved the State a great deal of money. Mr. Platt said Mr. Roberts didn't do more than his duty, and selected Mr. Morton as his candidate.

Mr. Platt could not have picked out duty, and selected Mr. Morton as his candidate.

Mr. Platt could not have picked out any other man as his personal candidate on whom he could unite the Republicans. All who are not blinded by actional opposition agree in saying that Platt has played the greatest same of politics in modern times.

Cornelius N. Rilss was among the early arrivals this morning. He went at once into conference with Gen. Dan Butterfield, Gen. Sam Thomas. Col. S. V. R. Cruger and Chairman Brookfield. Mr. Brookfield had no cheering news for Mr. Bilss. Mr. Brookfield said he had talked enough lately and had nothing to say.

Mr. Bliss could not be found, but Chairman Brookfield, one of his closest friends, put a quietus on the sensational rumor.

"Mr. Bliss." said Mr. Bradley, "is not a candidate. I know it. A few of his friends in the New York delegation may vote for him, but that is ali."

Mr. Brookfield was greatly pleased over the action of the Erie men. As Fassett will undoubtedly have the largest following, the decision of the Erie men. As Fassett will undoubtedly have the largest following, the decision of the Erie men is practically in Fassett's favor, and improves his chances. It is now said that Platt will force Haight's nomination to induce the Erie men to support his ficket.

Talk is heard here and there that Platt has precipitated another Folger campaign, but nobody of any prominence could be found who would back the statement with his name.

There is a deep rooted feeling of hate against Platt, however, and it is not will be forced without a protest against the manner in which he was foisted on the party.

There is no objection against Morton personally, but because he is Platt's man. Son's with backbones among the first delegates will probably express opinions about his dictation.

Mr. Morton will not be here to hear what will be said about him. He will remain at his Rhinebeck home over the Convention.

There are only two contests to be heard—the Third Albany and Second New York—so the permanent organization of the Convention will not be delayed. The Convention will lose no time over John E. Milholland and his free-booters, who will contest the seats of the regulars from New York. Milholland will be ignored.

Talk is revived of ex-Collector Francis Hendricks, of Syracuse, as a candidate for Governor or Lieutenant-Governor.
Mr. Hendricks's friends say he is tentatively a candidate. That is, he will enter the lists if there should be a dead-lock and make the running in the stretch. Saxton will get many votes from New York and Kings County for Lieutenant-Governor. He and Wadsworth have an equal following in both delegations.

OFF FOR THE CONVENTION.

The Grand Central Station was crowded all morning with delegates, friends of delegates and the rank and file of organizations anxious to make a showing at Saratoga. The enthusiasm was of the liveliest kind and cheers for Morton were heard on every side. No one else seemed, outwardly at least, to have a friend.

Very few of the big guns were left over from Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week, so that familiar faces were not seen this morning. There were some of the left-overs, however, who did not think it beneath their dignity to go up with the common herd. Among them were Congressman Lemuel Ely Quigg, who brought his wife along to see the fun; John Wanamaker, ex Judge Robertson, Leader Elsenwebber, ex-Collector Eldman, Assemblyman Deyo, Dr. Schilders and Conrad Alheldt. They went up on the 320 o'clock train, About thirty delegates went with them.

The only uniformed corps to put in an appearance was the Lincoln Ploneers of the Eighth Assembly District. They were about sixty strong, and presented.

Kilpatrick, who is a sober and respected man, danced with his wife and appeared to be in good spirits. Immediately after the departure of the guests he drew a pistol and shot his wife in the abdomen. She died a few hours later. Edward Price heard the report of the pistol, and rushed into the house. In attempting to wrest the weapon from Kilpatrick, Price received a slight wound in the arm.

A few moments before her death, Mrs. Kilpatrick made a will, leaving her fortune of 40,000 to her seven children. Kilpatrick is under arrest, but does not seem to realize what he has done.

There is a good reason for the large business the Hammerslough Bros. are doing. They manufacture their own goods and, selling them direct to the consumer, can put them in at a figure that is amazingly low. Imagine a complete suit of clothes for 310. That's the price. Their retail establishment has no expense, and as a result the consumer obtains the benefit of the wholesale rate.
